

Rolling Plan for the Republic of Zimbabwe

As of April 2024

Basic Policy of Assistance	Assistance for Sustainable Economic Growth and Socio-Economic Transformation
Priority Area 1	Facilitation for Smooth Integration into the Southern African Regional Economy
Development Issue 1-1  Promotion of smooth distribution between Zimbabwe and neighbouring countries, and development of corridor infrastructure	[Background and current situation] Although economic reforms have been carried out in Zimbabwe through the new administration since November 2017, the country's economy continues to face serious challenges. In 2019, the highest rate of inflation since the last hyperinflation period of 2008 was recorded. In addition, due to the financial constraints of the Government, the lack of maintenance and development of existing infrastructure remains a key issue. With the economic integration of the Southern African region currently underway, and Zimbabwe being located in the centre of the region, this inadequate development of infrastructure and logistics not only hampers the country's own sustainable development, but also the smooth development of the entire region. Therefore, to ensure economic growth, it is necessary to improve the country's connectivity with neighbouring countries through improvement and development of infrastructure.				[Strategy] In order to improve Zimbabwe's connectivity with neighbouring countries and support its efforts towards regional economic integration, develop infrastructure of transport corridors and power distribution.

Priority Area 3	Assistance for the Human Security of Vulnerable People and Social Development
Development Issue 3-1  Improvement of health, education, food security and disaster prevention for vulnerable people	[Background and current situation] The standard of living of most Zimbabweans has been deteriorating due to the political and economic instability experienced since 2000, as well as natural disasters such as droughts and cyclones that have occurred more frequently in recent years. Many people are experiencing a dire situation in terms of accessing adequate healthcare, education and food security. In addition, women do not enjoy equal rights, with their safety, education and health often at risk. In order to achieve sustainable development, a healthy and equal society needs to be realised where all vulnerable people can enjoy the same economic and social benefits without being left behind.					[Strategy] Strengthen food assistance to deal with serious food shortages. Support improvement of access to safe water and sanitation. Strengthen health services and systems in the medium- to long-term through the development of human resources and provision of equipment. Support improvement of access to adequate education and gender equality through the promotion of human resources and construction of facilities. Continued support for the removal of landmines, which pose a major threat to the livelihoods of local residents living in areas near the border with Mozambique. Support for Zimbabwe's efforts towards an inclusive and fair society through governance reforms.
